The Posen Journal of the 26th publishes in large type a piece of news which, if found to be correct, may lead to most serious consequences. It appears from information which the Posen Journal has received from Vienna, and which it says is entitled to all confidence, that the Cabinet of St. Petersburgh, feeling unearly at the recent attitude of Austria in Galicia, has, within the last few days, proposed to the Government of Berlin to give up to Prussia the left bank of the Vistula, provided Prussia consented to the americation of Eastern Galicia by Russia, and silowed the Cabinet of St. Petersburgh frestein of action in the East. The Posen Journal calls on the Lavelida Russe and the North German Gazette to deny the news, of which it itself asserts the perfect correctness.

INDIA.

The Madras Athenorum takes but a gloomy view of the future. It fears that Madras will have to endure severe privation for a long while yet, as there is no likelihood of any present importations of grain large enough to occasion a material reduction of prices. "From our provinces (it adde) the accounts are on the whole improving, though to no great extent, but Bellary, Coimbatore and Madura still send in very bad reports. The Joint Relief Funds had reached a total of Rs. 151,800 on the 24th inst. We lament to say that the horrors of famine and its concomitants, disease and death, continue unabated in Cutack and the adjacent districts, and the behavior of the Bengal government provokes the severest animalversions. The manifest evils that have resulted from Sir Cecil Bendon's absence during such a frightful senson of calomity, may be taken as an earnest of whit would happen to the Indian provinces generally, if all the chief seats of tovernment were permanently transferred to hill stations. There in Bengal, unumbered tens of thousands of their fellow-creatures are dying the mast miscrable of deaths, while the Lieutenant-Governor and the Vicrory recease themselves at Simla and Darjeeding, instead of being on the spot to take personally all possible measures for the relief of those who still survive."
